AERO CLUB OF SOUTH AFRICA

The Aero Club is South Africa's national co-ordinating body for sport aviation, and provides members with a voice on regulating bodies such as the Civil Aviation Authority.

The AeCSA is now 80 years old, is managed by a General Manager with secretarial help, and is made up of sections, each representing a group of enthusiasts with a specific interest.

The General Manager is Neil de Lange, and the offices are located at Grand Central Airfield in Midrand.
